Country Star Miranda Lambert Urges Atlanta Fans to Fill the Little Red Wagon to Support Furkids Animal Rescue and Shelter

One Donor of Cat or Dog Supplies for Atlanta November 22 Concert Will Win a Meet and Greet with Lambert and Earn Ticket Upgrades

- Lambert challenges her Atlanta fans to put Atlanta on the map by outdoing fans in other cities by Filling the Little Red Wagon many times over.
- Fans Don't Need Concert Tickets to Participate

Atlanta, Georgia – June 17, 2019—Miranda Lambert is returning to Atlanta and supporting Furkids again during her concert at the Infinite Energy Arena on November 22, 2019. To rally the support of concertgoers and help animals in need, the songstress and Live Nation are offering up the chance for one lucky fan and a guest to meet Lambert at her concert by donating supplies for Furkids cats and dogs.

Miranda Lambert has found the perfect way to nurture two of her passions – music and mutts. Miranda's 501c3 nonprofit, MuttNation Foundation, will collect dog food, treats, supplies and cash donations for Furkids at the "Fill the Little Red Wagon" activation, at Infinite Energy Arena before the show.

Furkids has become one of the most successful nonprofit animal rescue and shelter organizations in the southeast U.S., operating one of the largest cage-free, no-kill shelters for homeless cats in Georgia and a state-of-the-art, no-kill shelter for dogs. Furkids cares for approximately 1,000 homeless cats and dogs in its shelters, adoption centers and foster home network. The non-profit serves more animals on a daily basis than any other local organization in Georgia. Since its founding in 2002, Furkids has rescued, spayed/neutered, and rehabilitated more than 30,000 animals, working to place them in permanent, loving homes.

Since the Little Red Wagon is set up outside the concert arena, donors aren't required to have a ticket to the event. Any Miranda Lambert fan who wants to support homeless animals can drop off pet food, treats, pet supplies or cash into the Little Red Wagon set up at the entrance of the concert venue on the evening of her performance. One lucky donor has a chance to be randomly selected to win a meet and greet with Miranda before the concert. All donations (click here for a Furkids wish list) will benefit Furkids.

Furkids staff and volunteers will be onsite at the concert to manage donations to the Little Red Wagon. At the conclusion of the drive, Live Nation, the Atlanta concert promoter, will turn all concert donations over to Furkids.

“Miranda Lambert shares our love of animals. She is a powerful, outspoken advocate for animals in need, and Furkids is so proud to collaborate with her to help Atlanta’s homeless animals,” said Samantha Shelton, Furkids founder and CEO. “Furkids urgently needs help with feeding and caring for more cats and dogs on a daily basis than any other local animal organization, and we are grateful to Miranda and Live Nation for giving us this opportunity. We’re so happy for the help only Miranda’s fans can give us! The food and supplies will give us a chance to rescue, care for and adopt more animals into loving homes.”

The Atlanta stop on Miranda Lambert’s Roadside Bars and Pink Guitars Tour includes Maren Morris, Pistol Annies and Ashley McBryde.
